Giving Roses: Celebration set for longtime Waveland community activist

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Waveland native Yvette Hawkins has always dreamed of honoring her uncle, Clarence Harris-Singleton for his numerous contributions to the community, and this Sunday, that dream is coming to fruition.

"He's been one of my role models and inspirations," she said. "Being his niece, I get to physically touch my hero. I don't have to look to the TV screen and cheer on the athlete, my superheroes are right amongst me in my family. So, that for me, is the honor."

Hawkins said she has looked up to Harris-Singleton, or — as he is more affectionately known — "Mr. C," and tried to follow in his footsteps.

"My husband and I started a ministry in the community doing the same works he's done for us," she said. "Coming up, I can remember him making sure the kids had something to do that was positively productive. He kept us involved in plays and activities centered around our history. He made sure we knew who we were and where we came from and that we had a great self-esteem about ourselves."

Clarence Harris-Singleton will be honored this weekend for his 50 years of community service to Waveland.

Hawkins said he organized Martin Luther King Jr. celebrations as well as community performances during Black History Month.

"His wife and some of the other women in our community would make our costumes," she said.

Silver Slipper to ban anyone under 21 from property

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

"No persons under the age of 21 years will be permitted in this building for any reason," according to the Silver Slipper's Facebook page. "All guests must be 21 years of age or older in order to be admitted to the casino, our restaurants, the hotel or the pool area. You may be asked to provide identification in order to enter the building. If you do not have the proper I.D., you will not be permitted to enter."

It wasn't an easy decision, according to John Ferrucci, Silver Slipper general manager and COO and vice-president of Full House Resorts, Inc., the Slipper's parent company.

"We struggled with this decision for as along as we've been open," Ferrucci said after the announcement last week. "We tried really hard to educate our guests when they came in on how a minor needs to be treated while they're on the property. but we've had far too many incidents of parents or guardians not supervising their children properly, which causes me to be in violation with the Mississippi Gaming Commission, and I obviously can't afford that."

Effective July 1, the Silver Slipper Casino Hotel will no longer allow anyone under age 21 on the property.

Ferrucci said there had been six separate incidents in the past two months.

"We just got to the point where we had to say, there's no minors allowed on the property," Ferrucci said. "While it was a difficult decision to make and we didn't take it lightly, I'm getting a great deal of positive feedback from our guests, who all say it's been a long time coming."

Qualifying begins today for Waveland's election

Qualifying begins today, June 15, for Waveland's general election for the offices of mayor and aldermen for Wards 1, 2, 3 and 4.

The candidate qualifying paperwork is now available at city hall in the city clerk's office.

City Clerk Tammy Fayard said party candidates in primary elections pay a $10 fee.

Candidates running as independents must file a petition with the clerk's office that has at least 50 signatures from qualified voters of a municipality or ward, Fayard said. If running for the mayor spot, the candidate can obtain signatures from the en-

Palazzo and Ezell to face each other in runoff, but Wagner claimed Hancock County

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Incumbent U.S. Rep. Steven Palazzo, of Mississippi's 4th Congressional District, is headed to a runoff on June 28 against Jackson County Sheriff Mike Ezell after a contentious primary election last Tuesday against a crowded field of candidates that saw Hancock native Clay Wagner win his home county by a wide margin.

Wagner earned more than 400 more votes than Palazzo here, with 1,469 votes to Palazzo's 1,051, with all Hancock precincts reporting.

The next highest vote-getter in Hancock County was Carl Boyanton – also a Hancock resident – with 534 votes; Brice Wiggins had 268; Mike Ezell, 246; Raymond N. Brooks, 141; Kidron Peterson with 52; and there were six write-in votes.

District-wide, Palazzo earned 16,079 votes, or about 31.6 percent. Ezell earned 12,808 votes, around 25.2 percent. Wagner claimed 11,209 votes, or 22 percent.

Wagner has since endorsed Ezell, as have Boyanton, Wiggins, Brooks and Peterson.

Dupree earned 9,607 votes district-wide in the Democratic primary, or about 84.9 percent of the vote. He will face the winner of the Palazzo-Ezell runoff in November's general election.

Necaise said the turnout in Hancock County was "very, very low" for Tuesday's primaries.

"Voter turn-out for this election has dropped each time since 2014," Necaise said, since there's historically only one race on the ballot.

Hancock Sheriff's narcotics chief suspended pending investigation

ECHO STAFF

The Hancock County Sheriff's Office has suspended an officer for allegedly falsifying a document in a paternity case.

Ben Taylor, commander of the Hancock County Sheriff's Narcotics Division, has been accused of falsifying DNA test results in order to deny he fathered a child, now age 3, with a longtime girlfriend.

Sheriff's officials said publicly last week they are investigating along with the Mississippi Bureau of Investigation, and that Taylor has been put on administrative leave without pay and his employment will be terminated if it turns out the allegations are true.

Taylor is accused of falsifying DNA test results, with the report printed on the letterhead of a non-existent company and bearing the notary stamp of a man who says he did not notarize the results.

The alleged incident occurred while Taylor was still working with Homeland Security, stemming from a lawsuit filed by the Department of Human Services to obtain child support for the baby.

The child's mother, Branissa Stroud, has gone public with the issues on social media.

Kiln man gets 25 years for burglary

ECHO STAFF

District Attorney W. Crosby Parker announced Thursday that 33-year old Antonio Joseph Connetti of Kiln pled guilty this week to one count of burglary of a dwelling and was sentenced at the Hancock County Courthouse by Circuit Court Judge Christopher Schmidt. Connetti was sentenced to 25 years in the custody of the Mississippi Department of Corrections.

The case began on July 7, 2021, when an investigator with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office responded to a report of a residential burglary off of Firetower Rd., Parker said in a press release. "The investigator observed, what appeared to be, fingerprints and a small amount of blood underneath the broken window to the residence," Parker said. "The evidence was processed, collected and then sent to the Mississippi Crime Lab for analysis. During the investigation, it was also discovered that Connetti, who has prior felony convictions, was seen walking in the area at the time of the Burglary."

"Investigators then conducted an interview with Connetti where Connetti confessed to the burglary," Assistant District Attorney Jeremy Necaise, who prosecuted the case, said in the press release.

Connetti was also one of four people arrested in Kiln this past April for possession of narcotics, burglary tools and several — apparently stolen — catalytic converters.

Antonio Connetti

"We commend the Hancock County Sheriff's Office and their investigators for their attention to detail in this case," Parker said. "Their investigation allowed the District Attorney's Office to recommend the maximum sentence for this crime, which was ultimately followed by the Court."

No injuries after four boats capsize in Bay

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department responded Friday after three sailboats and a motorboat capsized in the bay during stormy weather. All passengers were able to make it to safety.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Foul weather on Friday morning caused four boats in the Bay of St. Louis to capsize, dumping about a dozen people into the water, officials said, but everyone walked away safely.

"There were three sailboats and one motorized boat that all capsized," Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Monty Strong said Friday. "There were roughly 12-14 people total in the boats, but all of them were rescued safely — there were no injuries."

Strong said the stormy weather caused the accident, but fortunately, the water where it occurred was shallow enough that the people thrown out of the boats were able to assist each other to safety.

The Bay St. Louis Fire Department, Mississippi Department of Marine Resources Marine Patrol, Harrison County Sheriff's Office and AMR all responded to the scene, but no one required medical attention, Strong said.

On May 10, 2022, Cheryl Doyle and Pam Hense, Co-Chairs of the STAR Scholarship program for Chapter U, attended an awards ceremony at Our Lady Academy in Bay St Louis. They were honored to present Chapter U's STAR candidate, Katherine "Katie" Pennell, with a certificate awarding her a $2,500 scholarship.

Katie will be attending Auburn University in the fall and majoring in Chemical Engineering with a specialization in Biomedical Engineering. Katie chose this field because she feels "as technology in our world is expanding so rapidly, there are so many opportunities in the medical field for new, innovative techniques, procedures, and equipment."

Katie defines success as the impact one has on the world and the people around them. "If I can help people on their journey in life and make impacts in people's lives, then I will be successful," she says. "I also believe to be successful, one has to be happy with themselves."

Chapter U is very proud that our candidate, Katie Pennell, has been awarded the STAR scholarship, and we send our congratulations to her. We wish her the best of luck as she advances to the next chapter of her life.

STAFF COLUMN

My little nephew is visiting and when I told him I needed to work, he said "make sure it's about me."

So his wish, more often than not, is my command.

He has just completed the second grade, a year filled with all A's, an intensified love for reading, and, apparently, he and his friends at school like to discuss "poop." Ahh, such is the life of little boys. And to be fair, it is a natural function of life.

Well, this visit is pretty bittersweet. The Coast Guard is moving the family to Alaska once again this summer for up to three years.

The first time they moved to Alaska, he was almost two years old and I believe I even wrote a sappy staff column about it for the Picayune Item newspaper.

Throughout his whole life, he has never lived in the same state as his Cass Cass, Maw Maw and Paw Paw. Our relationship has been filled with and built on numerous Facetime calls where, even as a toddler, he would show me the picture books and tell me about each page. Much to my delight, he has loved books and learning from an early age.

Sometimes, I wonder if all that is enough. Even with them living so close in Texas, oftentimes work obligations and other such events made it somewhat impossible to make the short trip there.

When I first heard the news of the move to Alaska, I of course reacted with sadness. But, my nephew told me that "this isn't the end of visiting, Cass Cass!"

He is right, of course, but I'm still very sad.

And I know he is going to have such a great adventure in Alaska.

This past weekend, dressed alike in our Super Mario T-shirts, we went and rode GoKarts, played some mini golf and played around in the arcade center.

Of course, he still isn't quite tall enough to drive the GoKart himself, so I drove. He was a bit unhappy with the ride because he told me, "Cass Cass, you drive too slow."

That boy has no problem telling you what's on his little mind.

During his visit, we also played some video games together, and now I want a Nintendo Switch.

My favorite thing is making memories with him, even when I think I'm just too exhausted or as I am now dealing with laryngitis, which is totally awful and I don't recommend it.

Hancock History: Master Carpenter Usan Vaughn

HANCOCK HISTORY
BY James Keating M.D.

In the mid-nineteenth century the port of Pearlington evolved as an important commercial center supporting shipyards, brickyards, a cotton gin, taverns, kilns, and six small sawmills. Skilled black craftsmen such as Usan Vaughn worked in the shipyards and sawmills and built houses with classic styles such as Creole Cottage, Shotgun, French Colonial, and Greek Revival. Several old houses built by Vaughn survived into the twentieth century. One such Creole Cottage, built around 1859, was studied by an architecture student, Kathleen White. Her findings offer invaluable insight to understanding the anatomy of a Creole Cottage and the genius and carpentry skills of its builder and first occupant, Usan Vaughn.

Colonial French architecture on the Gulf Coast was influenced by the innovations learned from the earlier experience of builders in the hot and humid weather conditions in the West Indies. Frenchmen built small cottages that were raised and steep-roofed with heavy timber frames using locally available native materials for bricks, mortar, nails, shingles, and plaster. The Creole cottages were the most common houses in New Orleans from 1790 to 1850. In that era, there was a lot of commerce between the small commercial port of Pearlington, Mississippi, on the Pearl River and New Orleans.

Etienne William Maxson (1864-1957) lived in Pearlington and was called "Uncle Bud" by his family. He had a house on the corner of Whites Road and Hancock Street. In 1930 Maxson wrote "The Progress of the Races" which was reprinted in 1950. His niece, Gail Fusco, in her memoir, "Mama Nettie's Time to Love," reported , "This book is rich in the history of Pearlington and the old neighboring towns along the Pearl River. It also covered the skill and ingenuity of African American people after the abolition of slavery and the great contribution they made to the area."

Maxson wrote about a skilled black carpenter, Usan Vaughn, who became famous because he invented a two-wheeled cart called a "carry-log" or "caralog."

Even though this carry-log, or its variations, had been created by others, Vaughn's improvements enabled timber men to haul large logs by oxen out of the forest or marshes to the riverbank to better advantage.

National Pollinator Week, June 20-26

Guest Column
By James Cummins

The next time you snack on almonds, add blueberries to your smoothie, or eat pumpkin pie, thank a pollinator and thank farmers, ranchers, and private forestland owners who work hard to create and maintain their habitat.

Pollinators, such as honeybees, bumblebees, butterflies, birds, bats, flies, and many others, play a critical role in crop production. Without pollinators, we wouldn't have many crops.

During the week of June 20-26, the nation will celebrate these iconic and crucial pollinators during National Pollinator Week. The U.S. Senate designated the third week in June as National Pollinator Week to increase awareness about the importance of pollinators and the challenges many of them face, including serious population declines and habitat losses, often due to land use changes and excessive or improper pesticide use. Nearly 200 species of pollinators are considered threatened or extinct.

Pollination occurs when pollen grains are moved between two flowers of the same species, or within a single flower by wind or insects and animals. Successful pollination results in healthy fruit and fertile seeds, allowing the plants to reproduce.

The extensive and critical world of crop pollinators is a $20 billion a year industry. About 75% of crop plants are pollinated by billions of animals and insects every year

Many federal, state, and local government agencies, non-government organizations, and universities have launched extensive efforts to protect pollinators, especially honeybees and the monarch butterfly. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) works closely with farmers, forest landowners, and other private landowners to increase pollinator habitat in targeted areas nationwide.

The Environmental Quality Incentives Program, through USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service, offers financial incentives to agricultural producers and private forest landowners who enhance pollinator habitat by voluntarily implementing conservation practices such as cover crops, wildflower and native plantings in buffers, and areas not in production.

The Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) can also be used to enhance habitat to protect pollinators. Administered by USDA's Farm Service Agency, the CRP is a land conservation program in which enrolled landowners remove environmentally sensitive land from agricultural production and plant species that will improve environmental health and quality.

When we protect pollinators, we protect our ability to grow food. We thank our farmers, ranchers, and private forest landowners who offer a safe haven for pollinators and grow the products we enjoy.

Whether you are a large commodity producer, a small and diverse organic producer, or even a suburban homeowner, you can have an important role in saving pollinators in Mississippi.

James L. Cummins is executive director of Wildlife Mississippi, a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant resources throughout Mississippi. Their web site is www.wildlifemiss.org.

He is the joy of my life. I love his little giggle, his inquisitive little mind, and just staring at him as if he would evaporate if I looked away.

While I am going to miss him being mere hours away, I hope that we will continue to grow our relationship via Facetime and phone calls. It has worked before and I am confident that it will again.

I hope the memories we are making now will make him smile for a while to come. He does tell people that I am good at playing video games and I hope he knows that I do try to be the best Aunt Cass Cass I can be.

Even though I will miss him terribly, I'm looking forward to hearing his new stories about Alaska. And I hope he doesn't forget just how much I love him and am so blessed to have him in my life.

The logs then floated down to the mouth of a river to a sawmill. Although Usan was a slave owned by Nezan Favre, he secured a patent for the improved cart, and they sold these carts to all the "timber-getters" in the region for $100.

Vaughn was encouraged by Favre to build and sell the carts. The traditional custom at the time was that the slave owner received twenty percent of the profit. Consequently, Vaughn accumulated some wealth and was able to purchase the freedom of his wife, Anna. Her husband acquired his freedom in 1863 when the Emancipation Proclamation was signed by President Abraham Lincoln.

It is presumed that this very skilled master carpenter, who had worked on the dry dock and sawmill in Pearlington, went into business building houses after the Civil War. One such Creole cottage he built on Gin Road is called the Vaughn House because it was the home of Usan and Anna. She died in 1869 and was buried on a site on the other side of Gin Road where their house was located. Usan was recorded in the 1880 census, but his exact date of death and his burial site is unknown.

In our next column the anatomy of the classic Creole cottage as they were built in Hancock County will be presented.

Deputies were called to the scene — Bowman's Kelly Street home — during Hurricane Ida after a reported shooting. Deputies battled flooding and tropical storm-force winds, responding to the scene by boat.

"Upon arrival, Hancock County deputies, while attempting to investigate the call for service, made contact with a subject in the residence," according to a press release from Hancock Sheriff Ricky Adam's office at the time. "An officer involved shooting occurred that led to the shooting death of one subject. Deputies found a second deceased male in the residence."

The man inside the residence was later identified as George Hobart Shaw, 65, who lived with Bowman. Bowman, age 80, was also known in the neighborhood as "Captain Foo," or simply "The Captain."

Neighbors said the two men apparently got into a dispute about Shaw letting a friend's dogs into the home during the storm.

The Mississippi Highway Patrol investigated the officer-involved shooting, while the Hancock County Sheriff's Office investigated the murder.

SEA COAST ECHO

The iconic 100 Men Hall in Bay Saint Louis is celebrating its Centennial Year from June 2022 – June 2023 with four themed weekends of entertainment that will honor the Hall's culturally rich history while upholding its mission today of educating the Mississippi Gulf Coast populace about the Hall's significant contributions throughout its first hundred years.

Founded in 1894 by 12 civic-minded African American Bay Saint Louis residents whose goal was to "assist its members when sick, bury its dead in a respectable manner, and knit friendship" the Hall grew to become a robust performance venue included on "the chitlin circuit", an historic nationwide network of performance spaces, and a stop on the Mississippi Blues Trail map.

Rachel Dangermond, Director and Owner of the 100 Men Hall, has announced the following four themed weekends: The Ancestors Weekend (June 17-19, 2022), The Chitlin' Circuit (October 14-16, 2022), The Harlem Renaissance Weekend (February 3-5, 2023), and The Rise of the DJ/Disco Weekend (June 16-19, 2023).

Created to commemorate significant eras of the Hall's history, the first weekend is slated for Juneteenth Weekend, June 17-19, 2022. Details about the October '22, February '23 and June '23 weekends will be released closer to those individual dates

Ancestors Weekend - We Are Our Ancestor's Wildest Dreams

The inaugural weekend will include drumming and dancing, the unveiling of a mural, sculpture, and poster, a jubilee filled with dancing and the pageantry of African Tribal customs and couture, and an afternoon cocktail workshop. A commemorative, letterpress poster created by Kennedy Prints and proclaiming "We Are Our Ancestors Wildest Dreams" will be available for purchase throughout the weekend. The first of four customized posters that Kennedy Prints will be designing and producing, one of each will be donated to the archives of Mississippi Universities and Colleges.

Friday, June 17, 2022

The weekend's activities will begin at 6 pm when an interactive sculpture, "Use your WORDS, Stomp out RACISM", donated by artist Erica Larkin Gaudet is unveiled and dedicated as a piece to support the 100 Men Hall's mission to tell its story through creative works and art. Visitors to the Hall – both that evening and in days moving forward – will contribute their own words to support the artwork's message.

Gaudet, a sculptor who primarily uses metal as her material, has been welding and fabricating sculptural work for both private and public clients for over 30 years. She and her glass artist husband, Mitchell Gaudet, also have led the development of two neighborhood arts revitalizations, created and managed artists spaces and established two successful art galleries, Studio Waveland Gallery & Studio Inferno Gallery.

An 8' x 8' mural, We Are Our Ancestor's Wildest Dreams, by artist Adrienne Brown David will be unveiled inside the Hall. Brown David's work captures Black childhood that is pure and uninterrupted. Her children and their real-life experiences are often the subject. The need to capture the reality of their specific childhood and the freedom that comes with it is the inspiration that drives her. It is essential that her work illuminates an often under-recognized narrative: that black childhood is as important and as beautiful as every other child's.

Immediately following the mural and sculpture dedications, celebrants, who are encouraged to bring their own percussion instruments, will gather on the grounds of the 100 Men Hall for African drumming and dancing with Baba Luther and Mama Jamila from Congo Square.

Families with children of all ages are welcome to attend the Friday night events, which will conclude at approximately 7:30 pm.

While there is no charge, attendees are asked to register online on the ticket page of the Hall's website and to be advised that parking will be limited. https://the100menhall.com/collections/tickets/products/ancestors-weekend-free-african-drumming-and-dancing

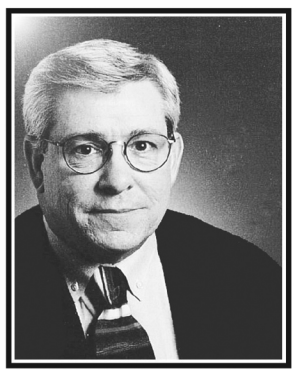
Confessions of a Blessed Father

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN



C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

The day which has been set aside to honor fathers is coming up. As a father myself, and now a grandfather for almost 18 years, I confess that this is not an easy subject about which to write.

The difficulty is not due to a lack of love for my children and grandchildren. That love is complete and unequivocal. I hope and believe that they know that. The complexity lies not within them, but within myself.

As the years pass, and I am watching my sons live their lives as middle-aged men, I am increasingly aware of the many shortcomings of my own during their formative years. How many times did I allow work or other responsibilities to crowd out something that they needed from me? How often did I give too little attention to their concerns while focusing on some long forgotten crisis in my professional life? Where could I have done better?

Before I go too far down the guilty conscience path, let me quickly say that I am very proud of my sons. Both have achieved excellent educations. They both have wonderful, supportive spouses, and they enjoy success and satisfaction in their chosen professions. One is a highly effective Episcopal priest who leads his congregation with grace and courage. The other is a partner in a national consulting firm doing noble work on important issues which impact our collective lives. Both have occasionally challenged conventional wisdom and followed paths which, while costly at times, have led them to places of fulfillment and a measure of personal and professional satisfaction and respect. I am very proud of them.

My grandsons, while still young, are also sources of much joy. They are all outstanding students, active in church and school activities, excellent athletes, and they indicate promise for lives of service and good citizenship in the future.

All of this reminds me that, on this Father's Day, there is much for which to be thankful. Were there times when I could have done better? Certainly there were. Did I (and do I still) make mistakes? Surely I do. But when I think of my sons and grandsons, my first thoughts are ones of gratitude. They are not perfect (and neither is their father and grandfather), but they do possess character, a large capacity for love, strong integrity, and a solid ethic of work and commitment, all of which is admirable and which gives me hope.

On this Father's Day I will try not to dwell on that which I could have done better. Instead I will whisper a prayer (or many prayers) of thanks for those young lives which bless our family everyday. I will pray for their guidance and strength in the future, and I will trust that when they are my age they will (to paraphrase the poet Robert Frost) have much to look backward on with pride, and much to look forward to with hope.

Happy Father's Day!

Meet Iris. This adorable girl is a possible Lab mix, who loves to play in our play yard. She is approximately 2 years old, but still displays puppy playfulness and sweetness with everyone. She potties quickly when going outside, so she may be house trained, but no guarantees. Treats are very softly received, but she will jump up if you delay! A little positive training will correct the jumping behavior very quickly. This charming beauty can be taught whatever commands you chose to teach her, and she should be a quick study. Iris will be a wonderful addition to any family, as she is eager to please and very loving. She is such a delightful young lady!
If you are interested in meeting Iris, please stop by during our visiting hours Mon-Fri 10am-3pm (Tues 1pm-3pm) to meet her, or call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment. Please bring your children and dog(s) along to ensure compatibility.

kins said, Harris-Singleton would bus the young adults to Pontchartrain Beach.

"For some of us, that was the very first time leaving out of our local area, which made it so exciting to know that somebody cared enough to do all this for us," Hawkins said. "It was a joy being able to get on the bus with all your friends in the community."

She said that Harris-Singleton is such a giving person and that it's "time for him to receive."

"It's a community coming together," she said. "And it's our hopes that we show him and the community that although many of us are far away, home is where the heart is and we still love home. We couldn't celebrate him without having a community for him to lead. He's been like the watchman over the community. He kept us informed, involved, and made sure we were never overlooked. He's inspired many."

Harris-Singleton was born on March 1, 1948 in Waveland to the late Otto Singleton Sr. and Odeal Harris Morris. His stepfather, the late Rev. Lee Morris also played a vital part in his upbringing. Between the parents, Harris-Singleton had 14 siblings.

He graduated from Valena C. Jones High School in Bay St. Louis and furthered his education at Mississippi Valley State University of Itta Bena. After college, he moved to Illinois where he lived for three years before ultimately returning to his home state.

Upon his return to Mississippi, he met and married the love of his life, the late Debra D. Smith Harris. Their union produced four of their "greatest accomplishments", Roderick Harris, Kimberly Harris, (twins) Querita Harris, and the late John Roosevelt Harris. The pair have eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

In addition to raising his family and community activism, Harris-Singleton also dedicated 31 years to Stennis Space Center and ten years to Richard's Disposal of New Orleans.

He currently serves as the vice president of Helping Hands Community Outreach, is a member of the Hancock County branch of the NAACP, and serves as chairman of the board of the Hancock County Human Resources Early Childhood and Youth Development Program of Bay St. Louis.

He is also a member of Waveland's Planning and Zoning Commission, board member of the Hancock County Library Foundation, and is a member of the Hancock County Democratic Party.

Harris-Singleton has received numerous awards and experienced many memorable milestones during his lifetime, one of which was being an active member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

In 1983, he and his wife Debra, along with three others from Hancock County, attended the 20th year March on Washington Anniversary. His most recent award was the 2022 Coastwide MLK Jr. Community Activist Award, "Defining our Legacy."

Hawkins said she wants the celebration to be one of "love."

"In this experience, I want them to experience love and appreciation like they've never experienced it before," she said. "I want my community to know that we love each other, I want him to know that we love him, and that we appreciate the hard work. Fifty-plus years of ongoing community service is something to be commended. It deserves the honor and we want him to know that."

This Saturday, during the annual Juneteenth commemoration, the community center at the Martin Luther King Jr. Park in Waveland will be officially dedicated in Harris-Singleton's honor.

Dozens of community members are expected to return home for this year's event and Hawkins said she hopes it has an impact on the younger generation.

"That they learn from us, that you can have fun, you don't have to fight or beef with one another," she said. "The village mentality is what kept us going. It kept us alive. It kept us involved and it's what made us turn out to be the people that we are today."

Hawkins said she believes in giving "people their roses while they're alive and able to smell and enjoy them."

"The thing about America is they know African-Americans, their history of us is slavery," she said. "But as my uncle has always taught us, we were something, a royal people before we were enslaved. But my history of who I am is we're kings, queens, princes, and princesses. My uncle has always taught us that we were somebody and that we could do anything, no one could hold us back. We have to get out and get it. And we have to work hard, we may have to work harder, but we can do it. I never ever felt inferior to anyone because I've always had that instilled in me. The reason we picked the theme Coming to America is we wanted to show him and the community just who you were. You're not what America says you are, you're who God created you to be and that was kings, queens, princes, and princesses. And you have to think higher to be able to reach higher for yourself."

Although many of the event's coordinators have sponsored the celebration out of their own pockets, Hawkins said several local organizations and businesses have also contributed including: Hollywood Casino, Silver Slipper Casino, Walmart, and Hancock County Human Resources Early Childhood and Youth Development Program of Bay St. Louis.

The event is open to the community, especially to the Harris Singleton's Waveland neighborhood.

Many guests have already sent in their RSVPs and the doors will open to them fifteen minutes prior six. After that, it will be open to everyone.

However, some may get turned away, due to the fact that they can only seat so many people at the location, Hawkins said.

The celebration will be held at the Bay St. Louis Community Hall, located at 301 Blaize Ave., Bay St. Louis at 6 p.m.

For more information or to contribute to the celebration, contact Hawkins at 228-344-5166 or Querita at 615-484-1551.

Rebels sweep Eagles to advance to Omaha

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

In perhaps the biggest baseball series in Mississippi history, the unranked Ole Miss Rebels swept the #11-ranked Southern Miss Golden Eagles in the best-of-three series this past weekend to punch their ticket to the College World Series in Omaha that begins on Friday.

The series pit families and households against one another for the weekend. In the end, the 10,943 fans that showed up for the two-game series can rest easy as the state of Mississippi will be represented in Omaha, regardless of the outcome.

The Rebels (37-22) not only swept the Golden Eagles (47-19) but they also shut them out for the series.

Ole Miss beat USM 10-0 in Game 1 on Saturday and 5-0 in Game 2 on Sunday.

Not too bad for a team that abandoned starting pitchers in April and was just 7-14 in Southeastern Conference play at the beginning of May.

Head coach Mike Bianco and his staff never gave up challenging their roster and the senior leadership led by captain Tim Elko remained headstrong in their quest to advance to Omaha.

Bianco commented, "This is a really special group of players that did not give up on themselves, their teammates, or their goals. The older guys on the roster did not let the team go. We continued to challenge this group throughout the toughest parts of the season and they did not give up. I am very proud of this group of young men. I also want to congratulate coach Scott Berry and the USM team on a tremendous series and an outstanding season."

GAME 1
OLE MISS 10 USM 0

On Saturday, Hurston Waldrep retired the side for USM and Dylan DeLucia did the same for Ole Miss in the first inning.

In the second inning, Calvin Harris of Ole Miss broke up the no-hitter with an infield single but the Rebels stranded two runners. In the bottom half of the frame, Slade Wilks slapped a double to break up the no-hitter for Ole Miss as USM also stranded two runners.

Waldrop got behind early in the third inning walking the first two Rebel batters and Tim Elko recorded an RBI single to leftfield scoring Justin Bench to give the Rebels a 1-0 lead. Kemp Alderman drove in Jacob Gonzalez with a sacrifice fly to make the score 2-0.

DeLucia retired the side in the bottom of the third.

In the top of the fourth, Peyton Chatagnier opened the fram with a ground rule double to leftfield. He scored on a double by Garrett Wood to make the tally 3-0.

In the bottom half of the frame, Christopher Sargent hit a triple to the centerfield wall but could not get home.

In the bottom of the fifth inning, USM loaded the bases with two outs when Rodrigo Montenegro and Carson Paetow drew walks and Dustin Dickerson singled; however, Reece Ewing struck out to end the inning. Ewing did appear to hit a grand slam with two strikes but the ball drifted just foul in rightfield before the final swing of the inning.

In the top of the sixth inning, the Rebels scored seven runs on five hits as USM used four pitchers in the frame.

The Rebels with hits in the inning were Harris (single), Gonzalez (single), Elko (double), Kevin Graham (double), and Hayden Dunhurst (single).

In the game, Waldrep threw 5.0 innings for USM allowing six hits, five runs, four walks, and fanning 12 batters on 101 pitches. Wilks was the lone player with multiple hits for USM with two.

DeLucia threw 5.2 innings and allowed four hits with nine strikeouts and two walks on 108 pitches. At the plate, Ole Miss was paced by Elko with two hits and three RBI and Harris with two hits. Graham also added two RBI.

USM head coach Scott Berry stated, "Ole Miss did a great job today. We did not manage situations well. We had a few opportunities in the first four innings but we let then slip away."

Ole Miss head coach Mike Bianco stated, "I was very proud of players today and the effort they pit forth. Our staff did a tremendous job getting the players ready and we were able to string together some good at-bats. Dylan DeLucia put us in a situation to win the game and we were able to help him at the plate."

GAME 2
OLE MISS 5 USM 0

On Sunday, Tanner Hall drew the start for USM while Hunter Elliott stepped to the mound for Ole Miss.

Justin Bench tallied an infield single for the Rebels other second pitch of the game followed by another infield hit by Gonzalez. After a fielder's choice, the Rebels hit into a double play to end the inning.

Will McGillis collected an infield hit for USM but he was not able to get around the basepaths.

Ole Miss got Kemp Alderman aboard with a walk and Hayden Dunhurst recorded a single. However, Hall fanned the next three Rebels to end the second inning.

Elliott answered in the top of the third for Ole Miss by fanning the side and Hall answered in kind retiring three Rebels to close out the third inning.

The fourth inning was much of the same for both teams.

In the top of the fifth, Elliott stymied the Golden Eagles to help set the stage for Ole Miss to tally three runs in the bottom half of the frame.

The Ole Miss Rebels pile on at the pitcher's mound following the final out in Game 2 of the Hattiesburg Super Regional on Sunday. The Rebels beat USM 5-0 to punch their ticket to Omaha and the College World Series.

Harris singled to lead off the inning followed by a double from Bench. Gonzalez tapped an infield hit that scored Harris for the first run of the game. Bench scored on a past ball for the 2-0 difference. Two batters later, Graham hit an RBI single to rightfield to score Bench for a 3-0 lead.

Elliott retired the side in the top of the sixth inning. In the bottom half, Dunhurst led off with a single and three batters later Bench drove home Dunhurst with a single to leftfield for a 4-0 score for the Rebels.

The seventh inning was uneventful except for personnel changes. USM relieved Hall in the bottom of the sixth after giving up eight hits and four runs while fanning six batters on 89 pitches. The Rebels sent TJ McCants to centerfield and Bench replaced Wood at third base.

In the top of the eighth inning, Elliott surrendered two hits in the first three batters and was replaced by John Mallitz. Elliott threw 7.1 innings and surrendered three hits and fanned 10 batters on 97 pitches.

Mallitz fanned his first batter, walked the next and forced a pop-fly for the third out stranding three Golden Eagle runners.

In the bottom half of the eighth with two outs, McCants smacked a solo homerun to right centerfield to give Ole Miss a 5-0 lead.

In the top of the ninth, Mallitz forced USM into two ground outs and a pop-fly to Elko for the third and final out.

Elko returned for his final year to make it to Omaha and he helped pull the Rebels to the ultimate prize in college baseball.

Berry added, "First, I want to congratulate Ole Miss and Mike Bianco on the two games they played here this weekend. I have the utmost respect for Coach Bianco, his players, and how they play the game. We did some great things this year winning 47 games, hosting a regional and super-regional. Our program continues to grow. Their young pitcher was phenomenal and he has not even broke a razor out yet. He mixed his velocity and pitches extremely well. We knew that Ole Miss would be a tough offense to navigate through but we also did not create anything for ourselves. We are cheering for Ole Miss now and the state of Mississippi is represented in the College World Series again."

In Game 2, USM managed just three hits and struck out 11 times.

Ole Miss collected 10 hits and also struck out 11 times; however, the Rebels got hot at the right time.

Bianco stated, "I want to congratulate Scott Berry and Golden Eagles on a tremendous season. We have been on the other side of this and we understand. We were able to make Tanner Hall work early and we took advantage of situations. Hunter Elliott threw well today. Before the Missouri series this year, Chris Coghlan came to speak to the team and he challenged them to not listen to the noise or let someone on the outside change their goals, to never settle. This team has taken that to heart."

This is the sixth trip to the College World Series for the Rebels and second trip under Mike Bianco. The Rebels are matched up with the winner of Auburn/Oregon State in the CWS for their first game. The two teams were playing a winner-take-all Game 3 on Monday.

The teams that have advanced to the CWS are Ole Miss, Arkansas, Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Texas, and Notre Dame. The CWS begins play on Friday, June 17. Ole Miss will open play on Saturday, June 18.

Shore Thing: Good Will Fishing

I don't really how or when I came to know Will Gavin, but I've always liked him. Will is very Easy going, hard working, honest, and a darn good fisherman. I'd see him a couple times a week over the winter. It was Usually at the Bayou Caddy Boat launch, when it came time to pick up the boats. He always seemed to have bigger and more trout than anyone I talked to(myself included). Our guides spend almost all of our cold weather months chasing redfish, sheepshead, and more redfish.

He always told what area he was in, he literally told me the exactly spot. I knew it well, but had never caught fish on it years ago, and wrote it off. Well… fast forward a few months later. We were in the General area, and I was passing by "Wills spot". We didn't have a whole lot of fish, so I told the guys the whole story about Will and we'd give his spot 5 mins. Well… my man Will was right, and his fish were there. We started putting some nice trout in the box, when I saw a familiar turquoise boat coming outta the north. It was Will!!!

I could've died. I honestly hadn't fish that area in 8-10 years and get busted 8-10 minutes at his spot. He was cool about it. He just grinned and said, "caught ya". Heck, he even hollered over on how to position better, to get more fish. He was right! Best part of the day was after a fish came over the side, my guys would yell "Thanks Will"!!!

I called Will later that night, and tried to apologize. He wouldn't accept it, he was happy to help. We talked fishing, work and family. I definitely owe him one…

As always, have fun and be safe.

Fun ways to celebrate Father's Day this year

Father's Day presents an opportunity for people to honor the special men in their lives. These include not only dads, but father figures and other influential men who offer care and guidance to the people they love.

Many celebrations continue to look different than they were prior to the pandemic, and Father's Day festivities may still require some modifications this year, even if celebrations are not governed by the same restrictions as in 2020. The following are some ways to show dads they are appreciated.

Backyard bash

Restrictions on outdoor gatherings have eased up considerably in many areas. Outdoor parties are some of the safer ways to bring people together, particularly if attendees maintain their distance. Weather permitting, families can host barbecues and enlist someone other than Dad to man the grill. Serve foods buffet-style and space out tables so people can safely celebrate.

Plan a sports outing

Professional sports teams are once again welcoming fans to stadiums and other venues, albeit with reduced capacities to maintain safety. It may be possible to purchase tickets to an upcoming game and surprise Dad or Grandpa with tickets on Father's Day. Make Father's Day festivities sports-centric, with coordinated decorations and themed foods to set the scene.

Plan a game day

Whether your father likes board games, video games or crossword puzzles, gear Father's Day around fun and games. Let Dad lead the way and choose the activity, and then everyone can step away from their screens and come together at the table over jigsaw puzzles or trivia questions.

Host a beer tasting

If Dad is a beer lover, organize a trip to a local craft brewery to sample their offerings. If establishments are closed or still restricting indoor seating, pick up beers from a few different breweries and create a flight at home.

Set up an outdoor movie night

Perfect for a father who is a movie buff, borrow or purchase a projector and show a movie on an outdoor screen or against a blank outdoor wall. Select one of Dad's favorite movies to watch and invite friends and family to join in on the fun. Make sure there are refreshments at the ready and plenty of hot popcorn.

Celebrating Father's Day this year may require some ingenuity, but there is still fun to be had.

Father's Day history

Each year, the third Sunday in June is a time to pay homage to fathers and the millions of other men who have stepped into the role of father. While it may seem as though Father's Day has been around forever, it didn't become a nationally recognized holiday in the United States until 1972, when President Richard Nixon signed Joint Resolution 187 into law.

Many thank Sonora Smart Dodd for making Father's Day happen. In 1909, while attending a Mother's Day sermon in church, Dodd felt fathers were equally deserving of praise. To honor her own father, a Civil War veteran and widower who raised six children alone, Dodd petitioned for a Father's Day on June 5th (the anniversary of her father's death) in her native Spokane, Wash. The celebration was deferred to the third Sunday in June. Another account says Grace Golden Clayton came up with the idea for a Father's Day in 1908 in Fairmont, West Virginia. Clayton was inspired to celebrate fathers after 361 local men perished in a deadly mine explosion. Clayton brought the idea up to the minister of her local church.

Historians say that Father's Day may even be a much older idea. St. Joseph's Day, which was celebrated each year on March 19 in Catholic nations of Europe since the medieval era, and later elsewhere around the world, commemorates Joseph, the husband of Mary and father figure to Jesus. It was said that Joseph should be held up as the ideal example of fatherhood. The Coptic Orthodox Church celebrates St. Joseph's Day on July 20. In the Orthodox Christian Church, the second Sunday before the Nativity is celebrated as the Sunday of the Forefathers — celebrating all of Jesus' male ancestors, with an emphasis on Abraham, the patriarch of the Jewish faith.

Brent Garriga of Bay High School Honored as Outstanding Science Teacher

SEA COAST ECHO

Brent Garriga

Brent Garriga, a science teacher at Bay High School, was recently recognized for his dedication to learning and outstanding work in the classroom.

Keesler Federal Credit Union and Mississippi Aquarium partnered to honor Garriga, one of just 10 Mississippi Gulf Coast science teachers selected to receive a rare science centric tour of the Gulfport-based aquarium. The tour included a first-hand look at water salinity, the veterinarian experience, and the food preparation areas.

Additionally, each teacher was allowed to bring one student on the tour.

Keesler Federal and Mississippi Aquarium teamed up on the initiative to honor science teachers during Teacher Appreciation Week, May 2-6. Each school superintendent nominated a teacher who then selected a student.

"Mississippi Aquarium's mission pillars are education, conservation, and community. This program is a great example of all three mission pillars in action," said Kurt Allen, Mississippi Aquarium President and CEO.

"Keesler Federal is pleased to make this extraordinary opportunity available to our educators," said Andy Swoger, Keesler Federal President and CEO. "Their tireless effort in the classroom opens students' eyes to the wondrous world of science, which is especially important in an area such as the Mississippi Gulf Coast."

Keesler Federal is also planning to honor science teachers in its markets outside the Mississippi Gulf Coast later this year and provide them an opportunity for tours.
